SANAKO Receives Certificate of Networthiness from Army

Advanced Language Learning Suite, SANAKO Study 1200 is certified for US Army usage.

The US Army Network Enterprise Technology Command (NETCOM) grants SANAKO with a Certificate of Networthiness (CoN) for Study 1200. Before any external software can be used on the Army's networks, it must have this credential. This certification signifies that Sanako's Study 1200 software is in full compliance with the Army Enterprise Infrastructure's (AEI) strict standards for security, supportability, sustainability and compatibility with the Army's Enterprise Infrastructure network.

The SANAKO Study 1200 is an advanced language learning suite that offers an extended range of essential activities that focus on both listening comprehension and voice practice. Study 1200 provides the students and teachers with all the features and benefits of a modern language learning environment. The versatile solution supports student voice recording for practicing in pronunciation and intonation, and offers teachers innovative content authoring capabilities, which allow for the creation of new learning material. Study 1200 has an extensive set of language learning activities that are necessary for language teaching that include: Listening Comprehension, Discussion, Model Imitation and Reading Practice. The selection of activities is made simple with a drop-down menu. The SANAKO Study 1200 also has a set of advanced tools including the SANAKO Study 1200 Digital Recorder. The built-in digital recorder in the Study student application allows the student to use a wide range of compatible media file formats and can play, stop, rewind, fast forward and pause the file and their own recorded voices. They can also set and remove bookmarks that can locate places in the file for review and additional practice.
